Most Devastating Raid of War Hits No. Korea Capital

Planes of Five Allied Nations Join In One of Biggest Bombings of Korean Conflict; Smash Industrial Centers

SEOUL, Saturday (AP)—Hundreds of Allied warplanes Friday smashed North Korea's capital and two other prime military targets in one of the mightiest air blows of the Korean War.

Pyeongyang, the North Korean capital, was left in roaring flames and rubble before bad weather blotted out the target and spared it from a further ordeal of fire and bombs.

It was a thunderous follow-up to the Yalu River power plant raid on June 23 designed to exert greater military pressure on the balking Communist armistice negotiators.

But bad weather kept the raid from reaching the proportions of that one. The Air Force said there were 1,048 sorties (individual flights) compared with 1,373 on June 23.

Estimates of the number of planes involved ranged from 500 to 650. Pilots of five Allied nations took part in the big blow.

United Nations pilots reported they destroyed or damaged the Communists' army communications headquarters, three munitions factories and numerous other factories, and supply and troop centers in Pyongyang, the capital.

The Red capital was left in flames and rubble, AP correspondent Stan Carter said after a flight over the target area.

American, British, Australian, South African and South Korean planes from land and carrier bases also smashed Hwangju and Sariwon in Western Korea, 25 and 35 miles south of Pyongyang. They are important centers on the rail line between Pyongyang and the battlefield.

For weeks, Allied pilots had been dropping leaflets warning civilians of the impending raids, a U. S. Fifth Air Force spokesman said.

Many of the targets, pinpointed by photo intelligence, had been allowed to grow for months.

Bombs were dropped within a mile of a Red camp for U. N. war prisoners near Pyongyang, but pilots were instructed to be especially careful near this camp and four others.

The strike at least equaled the size of last month's bombings of North Korean hydroelectric plants.

Four hundred U. S. Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter bombers swarmed from land bases and from the U. S. aircraft carriers Princeton and Bon Homme Richard in a morning strike on Pyongyang. They were joined by planes from the British carrier HMS Ocean.

The advance wave strafed and bombed Red anti aircraft guns. Then fighter bombers hit their targets with rockets and bombs.

A second wave of 250 fighter bombers hurled more destruction on the capital in the afternoon.

More than 100 American and Australian jet fighters patrolled the area from Pyongyang north to the Manchurian border to protect the raiders from Red fighters. A few Russian-built MIGs from Manchurian bases exchanged fire with the Sabres. One MIG was reported damaged.

Carter reported heavy flak from about 100 anti-aircraft guns at Pyongyang, some of them radar controlled.

He said smoke billowed 9,000 feet into the air and secondary explosions ripped across the area like a string of firecrackers when F80 jets of the U. S. Eighth Fighter Bomber Wing bombed a munitions factory near Pyongyang.

The strikes were doubtless a continuation of the Allied effort to use airpower to prod reluctant Communist armistice negotiators into a more pliable attitude.

On the ground, U. N. infantrymen and tanks stormed over four Western Korean hills Thursday, then withdrew to their own lines.

The Allied raiders occupied three of the hills northwest of Chhorwon without a fight. They killed 79 Communists and wounded 29 in a bitter, one-hour battle for the fourth, the U. S. Eighth army reported.

Allied foot soldiers on the Eastern Front repulsed the attack of an artillery-supported Chinese platoon west of the Pukhan River in a 70-minute fight at midnight on Thursday.

A U. N. patrol cleaned out two Red bunkers with grenades on the Central Front. The Eighth army reported several Communist probes in eastern Korea and two 30-minute skirmishes on the Western Front early today.

Industry sources are worried over possible shutdowns next winter because of a shortage of iron ore. About 25,000 iron ore miners quit in sympathy when the steelworkers struck June 2.

Iron ore shipments stopped soon afterwards on the Great Lakes. The lakes are open only seven months in the spring and summer and vast stocks of iron ore are moved to stock steel mills for the winter months.

In addition to the 600,000 idle steelworkers nearly 600,000 other workers have been laid off in allied industries.

Tass Describes Aerial Attack As 'Barbaric'

LONDON (AP)—A Tass dispatch from Pyongyang described today's Allied air attack on the North Korean capital as a "barbaric raid... on a peaceful town which has no military objectives."

The dispatch broadcast by Moscow Radio said "hundreds of peaceful inhabitants, mainly children, women and aged people," were killed or wounded.

306 American planes dropped more than 1,700 bombs. Tass did not mention that British, Australian, South African and South Korean planes also took part in the attack.

The U. S. Air Force said the raid was directed against military and industrial targets and that for weeks pilots had dropped leaflets warning civilians of impending air attacks.

Sheriff Raids Home to Evict Angry Widow

Returns to Scene Where 39 Days Ago Officer Was Mauled

LAPPEER, Mich. (AP)—A sheriff's raiding party, aided by a 60-man State Police blockade, today evicted an angry and protesting widow from her long embattled farm.

Returning to the scene where 39 days ago he was mauled by angry neighbors of the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, Sheriff Clark Gregory led 12 special deputies in the early morning sortie.

Behind him blocking all roads in the area were 60 State Police with orders from Gov. G. Mennen Williams to see that the law was enforced and prevent bloodshed.

The 20-car raiding party apparently caught the farmers, battlers in a 17-year-old insurance fight, by surprise.

The raiders forced their way into the home and carried out the furniture.

Mrs. Stevens, sitting tensely in her living room, told the sheriff: "You leave this house. It is my home. This is my country and I am an American."

The raid climaxed months of legal maneuvering in which many state officials, including Gov. Williams, had tried to get the dispute settled without resort to force.

The forced eviction was the latest chapter in the bitter fight that followed the failure in 1935 of the Lapeer Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Association.

Mrs. Stevens, 60-year-old mother of nine children, lost title to her farm four years ago when she refused to pay a $172 assessment due to cover liabilities of the association.

Mrs. Grace White, Lapeer attorney, bought the property at a sheriff's auction for $500 and demanded the widow's eviction after failing to reach agreement with the widow.

Nine Pettis County Men Called by Draft

Mrs. Verna Williams, clerk of the local selective service board, has announced the following boys have received their induction notices for the July quota of draftees:

James R. Robinson, route 2, Sedalia; Ernest R. Fletcher, 1504 East Fifth; Walter G. Davis, 256 East Jackson; Leroy Van Dyke, Smithton; Ralph L. Waters, 2015 East 12th; Earl H. White, 1214 East 10th; Richard H. Rice, route 1, Windsor; Roy E. Kabler, 809 North New York and James A. Westermier, route 1, Mora.

These men will leave the Missouri Pacific Bus Depot at 12:35 p. m. July 23 for induction into the army.

Another group of Pettis County men will leave from the Missouri Pacific Bus Depot July 22 for Kansas City, where they will receive their physical examination.

Western Proposal To Soviet

Calls for Meeting On Free Elections Through Germany; May Bring Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western powers have submitted to Russia a Big Four meeting proposal which American officials believe will test the sincerity of Moscow's demands for a unified Germany.

The proposal, delivered yesterday, calls for a meeting limited to the specific purpose of creating an impartial commission to determine whether free elections can be held throughout divided Germany.

This was the one new feature in identical notes from the United States, Britain and France which represented the sixth round in a wordy diplomatic exchange going on since last March.

Moscow called then for an urgent meeting of the occupation powers to take up again the broad question of making peace with a unified Germany, a move Western diplomats at the time interpreted as mere propaganda.

In the new proposals the West laid down once more the condition Russia must agree in advance that any general peace settlement be based first upon genuinely free elections in the Soviet zone, and then to the creation of a free German government which would have a voice in framing the peace treaty.

Moscow thus far has sidestepped any such agreement and many diplomatic authorities doubt the Kremlin will accept the latest terms.

But the Western proposal left the way open for counterproposals, and American officials believe that in any event Soviet reaction will be useful in guiding public opinion Europe.

The proposal, made after consultation with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, will not delay ratification of the separate contractual relations agreement and the six-nation European Defense Community Treaty. What ever Moscow may do these pacts are aimed at bringing the Bonn regime into the Western defense lineup. Officials expect them to be ratified by the end of the year.

The 1,500-word note was in reply to a Soviet note of May 24. In addition to restating the Western terms, the Big Three powers sharply criticized Russia for further lowering the Iron Curtain between East and West Germany and around Communist - surrounded Berlin.

They said recent measures "aggravate the arbitrary division of Germany" whereas the Western treaties with the Bonn government leave the way open for a Big Four settlement for all Germany.

American authorities said the impartial survey commission which the West wants is of the same general type as the United States commission which Russia barred from East Germany.

The U. S. commission was made up of representatives of The Netherlands, Ireland, Brazil and Pakistan. Communist Poland was named to the commission but boycotted it.

Railway Conductors Call Strike Meeting

CHICAGO (AP)—A spokesman for the Order of Railway Conductors said today the union's negotiating committee will meet in Chicago Monday to authorize a strike against the Pullman Company.

A. G. Wise, general chairman of conductors in the Pullman System, said union members already have voted to strike to enforce demands for a 12½ cent hourly boost granted other railway unions.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower

Ike Calls On Taft Shortly After His Win

'You'll Win,' Taft Tells GOP Nominee; Pledges His Support

CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower called on Sen. Robert A. Taft today shortly after his triumph over the senator for the Republican presidential nomination.

He arrived, for what was an apparent effort to smooth over the bitterness of the convention contest, under police guard and the two went into private conference.

The general came across the street from his Blackstone Hotel quarters to Taft's suite in the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Eisenhower and Taft came out of their conference at 12:15 p. m. (CST).

Taft appeared first with Eisenhower behind him. They walked side by side as they walked into the lobby of the ninth floor, a party of about 40 or 50 persons stopped for a minute behind the two men.

Eisenhower and the senator chatted amiably, both smiling broadly as they posed together before television cameras. What they said however, was generally lost in the general uproar.

"You'll win the election," Taft told the general at one point.

Just a few minutes later, Eisenhower had returned to his own headquarters in the Blackstone Hotel, just across the street.

"I have no statement to make at this time," he said. "I have just been across the street to pay a call on Senator Taft and extend to him an invitation to co-operate with me."

"He agreed to do so in a very warm hearted fashion, which pleased me greatly."

Friends of Ike Get Roughed Up a Bit

CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today some of his friends got roughed up a bit at last night's session of the Republican convention.

The general, one of those placed in nomination to run for president, discussed the incident in chatting with a group of western New York delegates at his headquarters.

Eisenhower said: "Some of my friends went to the session last night and they had their flowers torn right off. People reached down and snarled at them because they were not in the right group — they were in the Ike group."

Eisenhower did not name the friends but said they left the convention to watch the session on television.

An assistant to the general said the incident had been witnessed by Eisenhower's mother-in-law, Mrs. J. S. Doud; by one of his brothers, Earl and by Mrs. Milton Eisenhower, a sister-in-law.

He gave no indication as to whether they were involved.

Ed Eisenhower Sees Brother at Headquarters

CHICAGO (AP)—A man today approached the outer guard in the corridor that leads to the suite of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the Blackstone Hotel.

The guard stopped the stranger and asked: "Are you one of the members of the Louisiana delegation?"

"Heck, no, I'm Ed Eisenhower from Tacoma and I'm looking for my brother," the newcomer replied.

Edgar Eisenhower was admitted at once.

Truman 'Sitting In' On GOP Convention

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman cut his engagement list to one caller today in order to "sout" the Republican convention.

His only announced caller was Cmdr. Thomas J. Cuite of the Catholic War Veterans.

Truman kept his television set tuned to the GOP balloting for a presidential nominee.

Nurse Opens Ambulance Door, Finds Husband Dead of Gunshot Wound

LINCOLN, Calif. (AP)—A nurse opened an ambulance door last night to find the body of her husband, fatally shot by a 4-year-old boy with a rusty .22 rifle found in a garage.

Lincoln Police Chief Robert Jimenez said Louis Procissi, 40, was shot by Walker Hagan, Jr., while Procissi and two fellow workers were riding home on bicycles.

Procissi died en route to the Lincoln clinic, where his wife, Josephine, was on duty as a receiving nurse.

Otterville Couple Loses Home By Fire For a Second Time

Two young people with real faith and courage Friday bought an old brick building in Otterville for the purpose of building another home after their four room house burned about 4:30 p. m. Thursday. They are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Smith.

While Mr. Smith was in service Mrs. Smith saved all of his checks for she made enough to live on at her own job. She was saving the checks for the day when he would return and they could have a home.

And finally that day came and they did buy the home. Then, on Dec. 19, 1950, there was fire which destroyed their house and everything they had. But they started again and built a nice little four room home and the people of Otterville did all they could to help.

Then Thursday afternoon fire again, from an unknown origin, burned down their new home and all their belongings, but they still didn't give up. Friday morning they bought the brick building to tear down and rebuild into another new home.

With 595 Votes, Minnesota Gave Him Stassen's to Put Him Over

Taft Polled 502, But, After General Wins, Other States Join Bandwagon, Dump Most Of Convention's Votes to Winner's Total

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower took the Republican presidential nomination today. He crashed through to a first ballot victory.

And the weary GOP legions, having made their great decision between the 5-star general and Sen. Robert A. Taft, took a recess while their nominee pondered who he wants for a running mate.

Some of those close to the general said there were signs pointing toward Sen. Richard Nixon of California as a "top possibility" but others also were being talked.

Eisenhower's victory, fashioned from a pattern of toe-to-toe battling all week with the Taft forces, was a smashing one in the end.

He was nine votes short of the 604 needed for the nomination.

BULLETIN
CHICAGO, — Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge announced Sen. Richard Nixon of California is the choice of the Eisenhower strategy group for vice president.

He made the statement to newsman after a conference with a group of Republican leaders who helped win the presidential nomination for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Nixon, 39, was elected to the senate only two years ago after two terms in the House of Representatives.

when the clerk had finished calling the roll of the states on the ballot. His 595 compared with an even 500 for Taft.

Gov. Earl Warren had 81, Harold E. Stassen 20 and Gen. Douglas MacArthur 10.

At that point, the Minnesota delegation, which had given 19 of its votes to Stassen, threw them to the general and it was all over.

Other states jumped on the bandwagon.

Make It Unanimous
Sen. John W. Bricker of Ohio came to the platform and, speaking for Taft, moved the nomination be made unanimous.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California came forward to do the same on behalf of Warren.

And the delegates jamming into this big hall roared their approval.

With this dramatic conclusion to the long, tense Eisenhower-Taft struggle, the convention recessed at 12:49 p. m. (CST) until 3 p. m. (CST).

The main business then will be to ratify officially whatever choice Eisenhower makes, meantime, as to the No. 2 place on the ticket the GOP will send out in an effort to break 20 years of Democratic national rule.

For the rest, the program was a little uncertain.

Ike May Speak Tonight
Leaders were talking, however, of getting Eisenhower to a night meeting to address the convention. They aimed, in any event, to get all the business concluded if possible and adjourn this 25th GOP convention in the evening hours.

Taft and Eisenhower both got the news of the convention decision by watching TV at their hotels.

Immediately, there was a gesture of unity from the general. He went to Taft's hotel and the two of them posed smiling, chatting aimably for newsmen, the movies and TV.

"You'll win the election," Taft told the general.

And to a jostling crowd in his headquarters Taft said:

Taft Congratulations
"I want to congratulate Gen. Eisenhower on his nomination and assure him I will do everything possible for him in his campaign and after he wins the election."

Eisenhower spoke of Taft as a "great American" and said he had come to pay a call of friendship.

From this peace meeting, Eisenhower went to a conference with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and other advisers — a session presumably devoted to the question of the vice presidential nomination.

Dewey Is All Smiles
Dewey, who was a master strategist in the Eisenhower camp, was all smiles in an exchange with reporters.

He said of Eisenhower's nomination: "Wonderful. He will sweep the country in November."

It didn't take long for the delegates to jump on the bandwagon.

Yet they obeyed not, nor inclined their ear, but walked every one in the imagination of their evil heart: therefore I will bring upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did them not.—Jeremiah 11:8.

W. E. Hurlbut, 90 Saturday, Still Active Daily as Businessman

"Live a quiet life and you live longer," advises W. E. Hurlbut Sr., who will celebrate his 90th birthday anniversary Saturday. And that is pretty good advice to the younger people who are rushing around trying to put 25 hours into every 24-hour day.

Mr. Hurlbut thought he would retire at 60 from the printing business he established in about 1904 at 114 East Fifth. His family thought he would not live long at that time — he was ill and they thought he had tuberculosis.

He went to Colorado and regained his health. Then he came back to his business and decided he would wait until he was 70 to retire. When he reached 70 and was in good health, he decided he would put off retiring until he was 80. But at 80 he still didn't think he was old enough to quit so he just kept going. Now at 90 he has given up the idea entirely. He doesn't think he will ever retire now.

Daughter, Helen, Is Here
Saturday morning Mr. Hurlbut expects to go down to his place of business as usual and then in the evening there will be a picnic at home.

Churches Carry On Despite Heat and Summer Vacations

New Towns Rise In Valley Where David Slew Goliath

BUILDING housing beneath the mountains of Judea.
(AP Newsfeature)

JERUSALEM—The gradual rejuvenation of the Holy Land is now reaching the historic Valley of Ajalon where Joshua fought the Canaanites 3,500 years ago and where—some 500 years later—David slew the giant Goliath.

Today, this central Israel region is no longer called by its biblical name, but the western part of the "Jerusalem Corridor" leading from the fields and groves of the Jaffa-Tel Aviv coastal plain up to the mountains of Judea, to the monasteries of Ain Karim, (the birthplace of John the Baptist) and to Jerusalem.

While the 19-mile long and nine-mile wide "Corridor" politically belongs to the State of Israel, the area to the north and south of it is now within the Jordan-administered part of Palestine. An armistice frontier—not yet made permanent by a peace treaty—separates the two territories.

Firing in occasional skirmishes, usually caused by marauders, smugglers, or infiltrators, make the frontier audible. But that's no more than a very weak echo of the din of war heard four years ago when the Arab-Jewish fighting was at its height.

Road construction was already begun during the Arab-Jewish

Churches of Sedalia and Pettis County carrying on their regular program during the summer months and despite the unusual heat that has been in vogue, most congregations have been holding up well in attendance.

Of course, the usual summer slump has been experienced, but several pastors have said it was less than usual and far less than they had expected during the hot days.

A few churches have started early services in an endeavor to allow parishioners to attend the regular services before the heat of the day has reached its peak. Nearly all have installed fans and are making every move possible to provide as much comfort from the heat as possible.

Many congregations have given approval to shirtsleeves and have waived the necessity of men wearing their coats.

Vacations, as well as the weather, have cut into the church programs, but with it all, the services are still attracting many of the faithful.

As one pastor expressed it: "The Lord's work is continuing, being done by His people, just as His work is continuing. He never stops."

For numerous congregations, summer and vacationtime offer unusual opportunities for special music and guest speakers. Many visitors some of them former members, are called upon to render the special musical numbers at the services. Visiting pastors from other places, coming here to see friends or relatives, are called into local pulpits.

By the same token, Sedalia is providing similar summer treats for congregations away as local pastors from their own church and numerous Sedalians sing and attend while out of the city on their vacations.

"Corridor" was rocky, barren and utterly desolate. It may take another generation or two till all this has changed. But even now what has already been initiated in the old Judean landscape shows what this part of the Holy Land will one day be: a blossoming countryside with fields and farms. Noach is one of the 14 traditional camp villages where a belt of white houses for the newcomers

Bible Words to Live by

ROMANS 8:28 is the verse.

"For we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to His purpose."

For the reason that it affirms a positive philosophy of life, certified by every finding of human reasoning and underwritten by the promises of God, I found this the most difficult verse to accept, but once accepted, I find it the most reassuring, and after 50 years as a trusting Christian, I have never had one reason to doubt it.

U. S. Conscientious Objectors Being Processed for Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—Conscientious objectors eligible for the draft now are being processed for 24-month stints in civilian work as a substitute for military duty.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said yesterday the Army had issued specific instructions to its examining stations regarding conscientious objectors to stations for examination. Hershey said, with volunteers going first and then non-volunteers in the order they are subject to draft.

Under a law passed by Congress in 1951, the I-O registrants who pass the tests will be assigned for 24 months to work at standard wages for federal, state or local agencies and with specified non-profit organizations.

Special Messages For First Baptists

The pastor of the First Baptist Church, Dr. Thomas W. Croxton, will bring two special messages to the church at the regular hour of worship on Sunday. The morning message will be, "What Christ Means to the Life of Our Day." The evening message will be, "Our Hope for Tomorrow."

Special music will be rendered at the morning hour. The anthem, "I Waited for the Lord," by Mendelssohn, will be sung by Misses Martha Graham and Mary Jo Case, soloists and the choir.

Revival at Flat Creek Baptist Starts Sunday

Revival services will begin at the Flat Creek Baptist Church Sunday and will continue through July 27. The Rev. Earl Scott, pastor, will be the evangelist. Services will be held each evening beginning at 8 o'clock.

in heart; for they shall see God." (Matt. 3:6). The citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following: "One's aim, a point below faith, should be to find the footstep of Truth, the way to health and holiness. We should strive to reach the Horeb height where God is revealed; and the corner-stone of all spiritual building is purity. The baptism of Spirit, washing the body of all the impurities of flesh, signifies that the pure in heart see God and are approaching spiritual Life and its demonstration." (p. 241).

Deborah: Great Among Women
BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

DEBORAH (Judges 4, 5) was truly great among women.

It was in that somewhat unorganized, difficult period for Israel, emerging out of the bondage in Egypt, and the wandering in the wilderness. The great leaders had passed on.

Joshua had conquered the enemies opposing the resettlement of the Jews in Palestine, but the kingdom of Hazor, recovered from that conquest, was taking revenge and oppressing Israel.

Deborah, this forceful woman, was aroused, and called on Barak to deliver the people. He refused to fight unless Deborah went with him; but a fighter as well as a judge, Deborah did her part, and the result was the overwhelming defeat of Sisera, and the deliverance of Israel.

Another woman then entered the picture, with a very grim story. It is the story of Jael, who slew the fleeing Sisera in a bloody and terrible way (Judges 4 and 5).

Though Deborah apparently approved of Jael's violent act (Judges 5:24) her own honorable record is free from the questionableness of Jael's patriotic, but violent, act of assassination.

It is for her prestige and wisdom as a judge among her people that Deborah is most justly noted. No one seems to have appointed her, but by sheer force of character she attained power among the people, and to the great tree under which she sat they came to seek her counsel.

Yes, Deborah was married. She was "a mother in Israel." Her husband's name was Lappodoth (Judges 4:4), but that's all that either I or the Bible, can tell you about him.

My recent article, "What Has Happened to Sunday?" has evoked some interesting replies. Three correspondents, evidently members of the Seventh Day Adventist body, or influenced by the views of that body concerning the Sabbath, offer extensive comment, and one correspondent challenges me to a debate regarding Biblical matters.

To this correspondent, as well as to others, I would say that in the present circumstances of my life and work debate or controversy is quite impossible.

I have sought courteously to acknowledge any letters that come to me, and to make a brief reply, but an extensive discussion is out of the question.

My purpose is these articles of Bible Comment is non-controversial.

So far as the question of a religious day of rest is concerned, I hold strongly to the words of Jesus: "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath." To me it is not the particular day that is important, but the principle of the one day of rest in seven. I am satisfied to accept the day predominantly recognized by Christendom, leaving to others the right to act as their belief and conscience may direct.

BPW Club Hears 'Report From Boston' at Meeting Thursday

"Report From Boston" was the theme for the Business and Professional Women's club meeting on Thursday night at the Hotel Bothwell with red roses for centerpieces on the round tables and decorations included a large Missouri flag and an enlarged portrait of Hazel Palmer, newly elected second vice president of the national federation, which were used in the Missouri Hostess Center at Boston.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Everett White, president, with Mrs. Lena Boothe, chaplain, giving the invocation. Group singing was led by Mrs. Cecil Peoples, accompanied by Mrs. Edith Donath. Guests of the members were: Miss Hazel Gray and Mrs. Jerry Engle, and two "mascots" who went to Boston, Miss Barbara Schumacher and Miss Wanda White.

Mrs. White then introduced Miss Hazel Palmer, who expressed her sincere appreciation of the enthusiasm, the work and untiring loyalty of the Sedalia BPW members who had sponsored and promoted her candidacy for this national office.

Report From Girls State
Miss Nancy Cook, the BPW representative sent to Girls' State this year, under the auspices of the education and vocations committee, gave a most enthusiastic account of what she called "a right fascinating game" of experience in government and politics. Miss Cook was very active in the latter, having been elected senator from Smith City for the Federalist party, then president pro-tem of the senate, keynote speaker for the Federalist party state convention.

A feature of the evening's program was the introduction of Ralph Carrell, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce health and safety committee, by Mrs. John Welch. Mr. Carrell concisely presented the project for a Pettis County Health Center, a health unit to be administered by five directors who are first appointed on a non-political basis by the county court, and thereafter elected by the voters of the county.

Mr. Carrell said these directors would then serve a two or four year term, and from a small tax levy also voted by the people, not to exceed one mill per $100 valuation, select a county health physician and staff of seven to carry on the work. The plan is just the opposite of socialized medicine and there is no free, individual medical care involved, for this project would deal only with broader problems such as fly control or a dental survey for all Pettis county children.

Endorse Health Center
The Sedalia BPW club voted to endorse this project and petitions were circulated among the members for their individual sponsorship.

A new project for the Sedalia BPW club members was announced by Mrs. White. It is named "Penny Pig" and was represented by a large black Poland China pig in which members may put their odd change. At each monthly dinner meeting, a birthday table will be arranged, and members seated at that table will be especially solicited for contributions to Penny Pig. Funds from this source will be used for some of the worthy causes to which the local club likes to contribute, but which can not be properly budgeted.

South African As Guest
There were several important committee reports given, the first being presented by Miss Mary Shanks, chairman of the international relations committee, who said that Missouri's international guest brought here to see Missouri and its people from Boston, Miss Ann Carey, manufacturer's representative from Southern Rhodesia, Africa, would be entertained in Sedalia next Sunday, July 12. Miss Carey will be met by Mrs. Ike Warren at Eldon and brought to the home of Mrs. A. W. Johns, 1520 West Broadway, whose house guest Miss Carey will be while in the city.

Miss Carey will be the guest of the international relations committee at the Hotel Bothwell Sunday evening for dinner, after which an informal reception will be held for all BPW members at Mrs. Johns' home. After a sightseeing tour of Sedalia, Miss Carey will be taken to Marshall, where representatives of the Slater BPW club will meet her.

BPW day at State Fair
Mrs. Ann Bagby, chairman of the public affairs committee announced that the Missouri Federation of BPW clubs will have a "BPW Day at the State Fair," on the opening day, Aug. 16. The State Fair management has reserved the music room in the Women's building as a club room for local and visiting BPW members for that day. Also a block of seats in the grandstand will be set aside for the members of Business and Professional Women's Clubs who will be here from all parts of Missouri.

The program was then announced by Mrs. Ike Warren, chairman of the program coordination committee, with a musical interlude given by Miss Eugene Arnold, soprano, who sang "By A Waterfall," "Kind Lord, Gracious Lord" and an encore, "Honey Child." Miss Arnold was accompanied by Miss Doris Stott.

Reports From Boston
Reports from Boston were then called for with Mrs. Frank Wagner telling of her experiences at the international BPW banquet in New York, which she and other Sedalia members attended en route to Boston; the opening address of Judge Sarah T. Hughes, the outgoing president of the national federation in Boston, and incidents of the Missouri biennial luncheon.

Mrs. Jean F. Schumacher reported on her experience at the national convention, where she was appointed a "watcher" in charge of one of the electrically operated voting machines by which national officers are elected by delegates. It was Mrs. Schumacher's job to instruct all voters who were unfamiliar with the operation of the machine.

The Missouri hostess center in Boston was described by Miss Rose Leibbrand, chairman of the Missouri hostess committee, who told about the floral decorations used, the gracious hospitality extended to all visitors by the Missouri BPW girls and the enthusiasm and hard work of the Sedalia delegation. She also told about the display of 13 boxes of souvenirs and luncheon favors due to a truck wreck and the receiving of the luncheon five minutes before the luncheon was scheduled. By swift, efficient work on the part of the Missouri hostesses, by the time the distinguished guests arrived, everything was in order and Mrs. Ruth Riley was playing delightful music on the piano. She also told how the delegates to the national convention called at the Missouri hostess center in crowds and were delighted with this hospitality and souvenirs of Missouri.

IN CONVENTION ASSEMBLED

In 1896, hungry hordes of unemployed marched on the White House. Silver was plentiful but gold was scarce. Should the treasury be backed with more gold or would the free coinage of silver bring back prosperity? This was the question being argued everywhere.

The speech of a 36-year-old delegate attending his first convention decided the Democrats meeting in Chicago in 1896. Cried ex-congressman and newspaper editor William Jennings Bryan, "You shall not press down upon the brow of Labor this crown of thorns, you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

Minnesota 4-H Enjoys Trip To Mississippi: Group Visits Sedalia

Twenty-seven delegates from Minnesota 4-H clubs, accompanied by a Minnesota State Rural Youth Agent and his wife, spent Thursday night in Sedalia at the Bothwell Hotel.

The group of boys and girls, ranging in age from 15 to 21, are enroute home by bus after spending several weeks in Mississippi on farms as part of a farm-youth exchange program. Last year, the first year of the program, a group of youths from Mississippi spent some time on Minnesota farms.

The group left Minneapolis June 1, and expect to return by Saturday.

Robert R. Pinches the Minnesota Rural Youth agent said it was the first trip into the deep south for the youths, and they enjoyed it thoroughly.

Assistant Director Makes Fame, Becomes Director

By JAMES BACON
(For BOB THOMAS)

HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood is such a crazy place. Where else would it be news when the boss assistant takes over when the boss gets sick?

Paramount recently promoted an assistant director to director in such an instance. And the news is looked upon as revolutionary in the trade. However logical it looks to the outsider, here such a jump can be compared only with the spot promotion of an army top sergeant to commanding general.

It was not always so. The practice was common enough in the silent movies and the results more than justified its continuance. Such top men as Leo McCarey and John Ford started as assistant directors. But in recent years, most new directors came from Broadway stage, writers and nephews of studio executives.

A fellow by the name of Alvin Ganzer is the current Horatio Alger hero of the assistant directors. Until a few days ago, he was the guy who yelled, "quiet, everybody, we're rolling." On the picture, "Pleasure Island," the director was playwright F. Hugh Herbert, who had also scripted the movie about three English girls on a South Pacific island who first meet men when 2,000 Marines make a World War II beachhead.

Herbert, at the same time, was writing a new play for spring opening, readying a novel for fall publication and overseeing the production of his current play, "The Moon Is Blue," in nine different companies here and abroad. It was inevitable that he should collapse of overwork.

Herbert's doctor ordered him off the picture when it was little more than half finished. Production boss Don Hartman and Herbert both felt that Ganzer was the man to complete the job and supervise the important editing and cutting.

Financially, the boost means $10,000 a year more at the bare minimum. Should the picture be a hit, it could mean that Ganzer is on his way toward the big money. He averages about $15,000 a year as an assistant. Top directors earn as much or more than top stars.

Ganzer has been 20 years with Paramount and has worked with many of the biggest directors. "And the bigger they are," he comments, "the more they let an assistant help."

Ganzer disclosed that McCarey let him direct whole scenes of "My Son, John."

Ganzer said the most amazing thing to him about the promotion is the big increase among agents who now speak to him.

"I've been seeing some of these same guys around here for years," he said, "with nary a nod from them."

"Now they come up and smack me on the back like old pals. I guess I now look like a meal ticket to the 10 per centers."

Will he move out of his Los Angeles apartment into a Bel Air mansion with attached swimming pool and butler?

"No, sir," he answers, "Don't forget I've seen a lot in my 20 years in this business."

As he talked, he must have noted a lonely figure sitting over in the corner of the Paramount commissary. A few years ago, this man was one of the top director-writers in the business. He never dined alone until he committed that gravest of Hollywood mortal sins—a couple of his pictures lost money.

IN CONVENTION ASSEMBLED

By JAY HEAVILIN and RALPH LANE

The speech of a 36-year-old delegate attending his first convention decided the Democrats meeting in Chicago in 1896. Cried ex-congressman and newspaper editor William Jennings Bryan, "You shall not press down upon the brow of Labor this crown of thorns, you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

Twenty thousand people roared hysterically. Bryan was nominated, his platform adopted. Though he lost the election to Ohio Gov. William McKinley, "Full Dinner Pail" candidate, Bryan had, with a single speech, established himself as the leader of his party.

GOP Platform Sets Standard For '52 Push

CHICAGO — Weary of name-calling and intra-party feuds, Republicans today had a four-year program with which they hope to drive the Democrats from office.

The official 1952 platform won a roaring shout of approval late yesterday at the Republican convention. But its plank on civil rights came with a

The Democrats were quick to chop away at the platform. Early comment from the rival camp included denunciation by two men out to win the Democratic nomination and election as president—Walter Harriman and Estes Kefauver.

The racial questions posed by the civil rights issue had not been settled yesterday even while the 6,000-word platform was up for convention action.

Even as deep-voiced Sen. Eugene Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the Resolutions Committee which drafted the statement of principles, was proudly reading the document,

That it never materialized was a tribute to Millikin, who had worked day and night to produce a plank acceptable to both Northern and Southern Republicans.

But they were advised a floor fight probably would be futile. Sen. Irving Ives of New York and Gov. Alfred Driscoll of New Jersey, the two most powerful

Then the entire document came up for a vote. It carried by acclamation. Something like a sigh went up throughout the convention hall.

The civil rights plank promises federal legislation "to further just and equitable treatment in the area of discriminatory employment practices." But it adds: "Federal

The platform as a whole bristled with denunciation of President Truman's administration. It plotted course for a "march into a new day." It promised to end what it called a corrupt socialistic government unable to cope with communism and replace it with an effient positive administration that could "wage peace and win it." Harriman, mutual security administrator and a candidate for the Democratic nomination, told a news conference at Detroit the platform is "one of the most unconvincing documents of all time." Kefauver, Tennessee senator who also seeks the Democratic nomi-

tion, issued a statement in Washington saying the platform makes the American worker "the forgotten man." He said labor proposals are "the wastebasket treatment." A United Textile Workers (AFL) statement decried the platform as "scientifically reactionary" and "plaintiff-anti-labor."

(ADA), pledged to the principles of the late President Frank D. Roosevelt, said:
The platform . . . is a blanket judication of the social and economic progress made by the American people over the past 20 years.
The platform as a whole follows the practice of substituting plati-forms where planks are called

St. Louis Teams In Opposite Directions, Cards as Winners, Browns Losers

Red Birds On Top of Ten Game Streak

Associated Press Sports Writer

The rival St. Louis clubs, under new managers, are going in opposite directions.

The Cardinals, led by firebrand Eddie Stanky, are riding on the crest of a 10-game winning streak and are making rapid strides in their effort to overtake the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants.

The Browns, skippered by mild-mannered Marty Marion, their second manager of the campaign, are in the throes of a nine-game losing string that threatens to drop them in the American League cellar.

Staley Wins No. 12

Gerry Staley became the first National League pitcher to register a dozen victories when he pitched the Cardinals to a 10-3 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies last night.

Third baseman Billy Johnson drove in four runs with a triple, double and single as the Cards drove a 10-3 victory over the Phillies from the mound with a four-run first inning.

The victory, coupled with Chicago's 7-6 win over Brooklyn and Pittsburgh's 6-4 triumph over New York, moved the Cards to within eight games of the Dodgers and 3 1/2 of the second place Giants.

Cincinnati rounded out National League activities with a 5-3 win over Boston.

White Sox Take Pair

Chicago's hustling White Sox swept a two-night doubleheader from the Senators in Washington, 2-0 and 4-3, to cut the New York Yankees' first place margin in the American League to 2 1/2 games.

The Yankees drubbed the Browns 10-2. The Philadelphia Athletics thrashed Cleveland 11-1 as lefty Alex Kellner checked the Indians with four hits.

Cubs Trounce Bums

All-Star winner Bob Rush of Chicago and no-hit Carl Erskine of Brooklyn were knocked out of the box in a 45-minute first inning as the Cubs came from behind to nip the Dodgers.

Gene Hermanski, ex-Dodger, collected three hits and drove in what proved to be the deciding run in a three-run fourth.

Catcher Toby Atwell, sold by Brooklyn to Chicago last winter, cut down a potential Dodger base stealer in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings to help Johnny Klippstein gain his sixth win.

Klippstein took over after Jackie Robinson rapped a three-run homer in the first and Rush put two more men on base, and hurled 2-3 innings.

The Cubs roared back with four runs in their half as the first five batters to face Erskine reached base.

In his last start against the Pirates Drop Giants

Jim Hearn, seeking his 10th win for the Giants, had a shutout as Pittsburgh came to bat in the last of the ninth, but the Pirates rapped him for four runs to force the game into overtime and won in the 12th when Gus Bell slammed a two-out, two-run homer off reliever George Spencer.

A double by Ralph Kiner, a triple by Joe Garagiola and singles by Jack Merson and Tony Bartomeo produced the four runs in the ninth.

The Giants loaded the bases with none out in the 10th but Ted Wilks escaped without a run as he got Don Mueller to hit into a force play at the plate and made Al Dark and Sal Yvars pop up.

Reds Beat Braves

Roy McMillan singled in two runs in the eighth following a double error by second baseman Sibby Sisti to give the Reds their 5-3 victory over the Braves.

Yogi Berra hammered his 16th home run and Billy Martin hit his second to lead the Yankees to their win over the Browns.

Bob Kuzava yielded nine hits for his fifth triumph, his fourth in succession.

Billy Pierce racked up his 10th win and Saul Rogovin his eighth as the White Sox won their sixth and seventh games in as many starts in Washington this season.

Pierce allowed only two hits and Rogovin six. A triple by Ellie Fox, a single by Minnie Moso and a grounder by Hec Rodriguez gave the Sox their runs in the sixth of the opener.

Hard-luck Bob Porterfield absorbed his ninth loss, five by shutouts. Eddie Robinson paced a 13-hit attack in the nightcap with his 13th home run and a single.

Elmer Valo had a perfect day against loser Early Wynn and Sam Jones. The Philadelphia outfielder hit a triple, two singles and walked twice in five times at bat. He drove in four runs and scored three times.

Only 8 Left In Missouri Amateur Golf

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Quarter-finals and semi-finals in the annual Missouri State Amateur Golf Tournament are scheduled today but two champions will be missing from the lineup.

Both Jim Jackson, defending Missouri state champion, and Fred Turner, recent Heart of America titleholder, were eliminated yesterday by a 20-year-old Kansas City youth.

Young Harlan Hise weathered a tough match to defeat Turner 1 up on the 21st hole yesterday morning. In the afternoon Hise defeated Jackson 4 and 3 in an upset.

The junior from the University of Kansas, shot five birdies, four bogeys and six pars in his 15-hole match with Jackson, who said afterwards that Hise "played much better than I did and deserved to win."

Young Hise, who works at the Milburn course where he helps cut greens, was runner-up in the City Junior Tournament last year and played for the Jayhawk golf team in the NCAA meet last spring.

He took his first match yesterday with a deuce on the 21st hole after his drive was only 18 inches away from the pin. Turner was far to the left in a sand-trap.

Hise is matched against Eddie Ervasti, St. Louis, today. Ervasti eliminated both Don Smith and Raymond Watson by 5 and 4, in his first two matches yesterday.

Harry Pailer, St. Louis, scored an upset in the third round when he won from Warren Rippen, St. Joseph, 1 up on the final hole.

Frank Furlong, St. Louis, won over Joe Switzer, St. Louis, and Jonas Weiss, St. Louis, to stay in the running.

Jim Tom Blair III, Jefferson City, won his two matches in the upper bracket by sending Rusty Allen, Kansas City, 3 and 2, and Eddie Fowks, Joplin, 4 and 3, to the sidelines.

George Sinderson, Kansas City, had it fairly easy in eliminating Dick Geiss, St. Louis, 3 and 1, and Bryce Hill, Kansas City, 7 and 6.

Jack House, Kansas City, remained in the running with victories over Tom Stophenson, Kansas City, 1 up on the 19th and Bob Leacock, 1 up.

R. M. Brown, Kansas City, came through with triumphs over Frank Bredall, St. Louis, 3 and 2, and John Nash, Kansas City, 6 and 5.

before he was relieved by Ray Holman, who tossed for three frames, and Jim Sands, who twirled the final canto. Guyman was behind the plate for the losers.

Lloyd Moore led the Baptists with two for three and Hayes of Houston had the only four-bagger, slugged in the seventh with one on.

Baptists play tonight at 8:30 at Smithton.

Hornets Keep South Minor League Lead

The American Legion Post No. 98 All-Stars defeated the Town and Country baseball team, 10-9, in a game played under the lights at Liberty Park, Thursday night.

Hughes, on the mound for the All-Stars, allowed nine hits, six bases on balls and struck out eight. Hayworth, Young and Miller took turns on the mound for T and C. Their combined offerings served up 12 hits, eight bases on balls for the 10 tallies, and 14 All-Stars went down the strikeout route.

McDonald was the winning pitcher in the first game as the Rockets kept close to the top running Hornets. Turner was charged with the loss, as he was trailing 19-4 in the second game the score changed hands twice with the Hornets making a last minute outburst to come from behind and win with Burlingame being winning pitcher. He was the third of the Hornet moundsmen, holding the opposition to one hit in the last of the fourth.

The leading pitcher for the Rockets was White, who connected for two for two and scored four runs. Turner led the Blue Birds getting the only two hits in as many times to the plate and he scored three runs. Bahlke and Murphy led the Hornets hitting attack, each getting one for one and both scoring two runs. Sedalia Golf Team Is Last In Inter-City

A combination of brilliant golf by their opponents and tricky greens dropped the Sedalia inter-city golf team to the bottom of the scoreboard after the third round of the four-match event, which was held Thursday at Fulton.

Only Mayor Herb Studer, who fired a 1-under-par 70, good for 32 four-some points, could solve the Fulton putting surface among the local entries.

Paul Leslie of Jefferson City and Phil Cotton of Columbia toured the layout in 68 strokes. Midge Roberts of Fulton joined Studer in the 70 bracket and Ed Louflier of Jeff City fired a 71. Leslie earned the most foursome points, 39 1/2.

After the Fulton points were compiled the tally shows Jefferson City in the lead with 895 1/2, Columbia second with 814, Fulton in the third spot with 197 1/2 and Sedalia in the cellar with 739.

Ike's Organization Has Set Him Ahead, Just As In War

By Dree Pearson
(Copyright, 1931, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
CHICAGO — For a man who knew almost nothing about politics, Ike Eisenhower has done pretty well at Chicago.
Loungeing in a dark red bathrobe and a pair of slippers, Eisenhower sat in his suite at the Hotel Blackstone getting reports from division commanders in battle. There was not the same tension, of course, and it's also doubtful that Eisenhower understood all the political jockeying of his campaign commanders as he would the feints of his division commanders.
But, in politics as in war, victory usually goes to the man with the best organization — plus a cause. And though Senator Taft has had 12 years of careful party organization behind him, together with some of the most devoted leaders in the GOP, here are the factors in 1940 has seen anything to equal Ike's ballyhoo. It was done by some experts from General Mills in Minneapolis and from Young and Rubicam in New York. There's been a lot of merely spontaneous Ike sentiment, too. Pretty girls boosting Ike have been everywhere, passing out buttons by the handful. Taft buttons were passed out parsimoniously, only one at a time.

4. Money — Though Taft seemed to have most of the cash at first, and the Eisenhower forces were slow in paying their Hotel deposit, someone has really taken the rubber band off the Eisenhower bank-roll recently. Taft claims that Wall Street opened up for Ike are probably correct. Winthrop Aldrich, a member of the Chase Bank and an old and faithful Dewey supporter.
5. Economic pressures — In every convention, whether Republican or Democratic, it's the deals and the last-minute pressures that swing big blocs of delegates. FDR got the nomination in 1932 by promising two cabinet posts to William Gibbs McAdoo for his friends and the vice presidency to John Nance Garner.

State Horse
By Harry Stewart
Important colts and fillies entered. Sinbad, a Kovak colt, would be running in the Pioneer.
Johnny briefed Rusty on Adonis. Then he went out front to hold his thumb.
It was no race for anybody with a weak heart. There were too many good horses in it, including a sleeper named Hothday.
BUT Adonis made his bid. He seemed to be flying, a jet flash, leaping ahead in a powerful spurt of speed; going on to win by two clean lengths. Sinbad was second. Back at the stable, Rusty said, "Two carrots for that one, huh, Mr. Hamilton?"
Johnny nodded. "And $500 extra for Rusty Sloan."
With the money from the Pioneer, he could buy up some promising foals. With the prestige from winning it, he could jack up the prices on his own spring crop.
Perhaps, he thought, he could get Challenger back, and Bella and Melody. But he knew that Kovak would never part with those horses. Not that he needed them, but it would put a rival back in the field.
The morning of the Pioneer Handicap was a hot one, and it climaxed a period of hot days. The strip was getting harder every day, and Johnny remembered Adonis' weakness. The colt had cracked a hoof at Atwater on just such a track.
They gave him rope work, and ran him very little. Rusty spent all his available time with the colt. This hot morning, the jockey looked unhappy. "If he remembers Atwater, this track might scare him."
Johnny was almost afraid to go and watch this one. Ten furlongs for the finest three-year-olds in the game. With a jockey only a year out of the apprentice class, with an unpredictable colt and a 20-year-old owner-trainer. It didn't look much like a winning combination in a grind as rugged as this one.

The big names were there. Elegy and Sinbad, Lady Caroline and Warrior; impressive horses from wealthy stables, stables that didn't need success on the track to maintain themselves; hobby stables.
In the box next to Johnny's, an owner said, "I thought Kovak got that colt of yours, boy. He got the rest, didn't he?"
Johnny nodded. "Just about."
"It's a man's job, running a stable these days," the owner went on. "I surely was sorry to hear about your dad." He paused. "You plan to sell that Adonis?"
"Adonis will never be for sale," said Adonis.
If he wasn't a man by now, he never would be.
All quiet, the hush, and then the expelled breath as the webbing lifted.

ELEGY faltered. Sinbad moved in. The Kovak horse was running second now, looking like the logical choice to beat the Lady. From the fifth spot, Adonis began to move up.
Even seeing it, it was that hard to believe.
Adonis swept past Lady Caroline as though she were hitched to a post, and he was crowding Sinbad a good half furlong from the wire.
Sinbad ran his heart out in that sprint, but it wasn't nearly enough; it looked almost like he had quit.
The sight of Adonis, coming back to the winner's circle, was something Johnny would remember all his life.
Rusty's face was glowing, and his eyes were wet. He said, "I'm going to rub him down myself, Mr. Hamilton. It's no job for a swine."
Johnny said, "You're going to be the boss around here for a while, Rusty. I'm taking a plane home."
"Trouble?" Rusty asked.
Johnny shook his head. "I'm going to get some questions answered."

Capable Swing-Men

At Chicago today, the Michigan delegation was swung into line chiefly by General Motors and Ford. Four years ago, the head of the Michigan delegation, Arthur Summerfield, was strong for Taft. Even when Michigan Republicans held their convention this year, Summerfield still held out for Taft. But Summerfield is a General Motors dealer, in fact, is reputed to be the biggest Chevrolet dealer in the world. So, when general Motors notified Summerfield in no uncertain terms that he had better be for Eisenhower, it gave him cause for thought.
Simultaneously one of Henry Ford's executives sent word to Summerfield that if he wanted any money for the GOP in Michigan he had better get off the Taft bandwagon. So, at Chicago, swing-man Summerfield helped swing Michigan delegates to Ike.

Swing — man for Pennsylvania, Gov. John Fine, started out leaning toward either Taft or Eisenhower. But the steel industry of Pennsylvania is the most potent in the State, and also happens to be for Eisenhower. Its executives can be persuasive. Also, Governor Dewey had with local political leaders in Pennsylvania and which they in turn had with Fine. They told him that with Ike on the ticket it made the difference between winning or losing their districts in November, and they wanted to win.
These were some of the moves by which Ike Eisenhower, the naive and none — too — happy politician, learned that when it comes to politics there's more than one way to skin a candidate.

Chicago Merry-Go-Round

More has leaked out of the New York caucus at which Tom Dewey really cracked the whip. To keep his delegates in line on the question of changing the old 1912 rules on seating contested delegates, Dewey urged: "It's all right to have a difference of opinion, but I'm a regular Republican and a great believer in party regularity. You can still be a Republican and disagree with me in this fight, but not a New York Republican." ... State Chairman Bill Pfeiffer echoed Dewey: "I also have a long memory and I won't forget those who desert us on this issue." ... New York's Sen. Irving Laves was milder. He said: "If we are going to fight corruption in the Democratic administration we have got to keep our own house clean." ... They won the day. With the exception of one delegate, New York stuck with Dewey on the contested delegates issue. ... General MacArthur's cardinal mistake in his keynote speech was making it too long. Remarkable one delegate: "I guess his speech was all right, but I went to sleep." ... Gov. John Lodge of Connecticut made the best speech of the convention — less bombast and more appeal to reason. Gov. Gabrielson did a good job of presiding. ... Remarkable one lady delegate from Missouri: "All we Republicans do is quote Abraham Lincoln and all the Democrats do is run against Herbert Hoover."

Bicycles Get Glowing Tape

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — 8 The Beechmont Women's Club is going to see to it that bicycling is made safer for children.
Some 1,700 bicycles will get seven strips of glowing tape — three red strips for the rear fenders and four silver ones for front wheel forks and handlebars. Safety courses will also be conducted in several schools, said Mrs. W.F. Moore, the club's safety chairman.
Boy Scouts and parent-teacher organizations are helping in the two-week campaign.

UNCLE EF

All the Democrats in town are just as much interested as the Republicans in the convention now on in Chicago. The only difference is the Democrats hope none of the Republican differences and disputes are trivial.

Last Minute Recruits Join Eisenhower Bandwagon Just Before Voting Starts

Taft, In 3rd Bid, Making Great Fight

CHICAGO (P)—It was Eisenhower against the field today as rival candidates for the Republican presidential nomination lined up in a desperate array against a first ballot stamp for "like."

Powered by last-minute Michigan recruits, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flung a booming offensive against an alliance of convenience which found Warren and Stassen forces joined—but for the moment only—with Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Eisenhower's blitz was under way as this raucous 25th Republican caucus approached its dramatic climax—the recall of states on the party nomination at 10:30 a. m. (EST).

Taft, making his third and final bid for a victory that had eluded him twice—in 1940 and 1948—held the center of the Stop-Eisenhower defense line with what his backers claimed would be 530 votes.

There seemed little doubt that the Eisenhower legions would overrun these blockades. The general's chief strategists claimed up to 585 votes toward the 604 payoff needed for the nomination.

As the zero hour approached, Eisenhower gained a block of 28 votes at a Michigan caucus, which also gave Taft four more ballots for a total of 12 from that state.

Eisenhower's Michigan total jumped from six to 34 after National Committeeman Arthur E. Summerfield announced he was swinging aboard the general's bandwagon.

Taft was flanked by allies-for-the-hour in Gov. Earl Warren of California, with 76 votes, and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, captain of 25 possibly vital delegates.

If the first Eisenhower attack falls short, these allies felt they might be able to regroup and force a deadlock from which one of their number might emerge with the nomination.

Aim for a Deadlock
It was evident Warren and Stassen believed Taft's chances for the nomination are not good, but that he could provide the main strength now for a deadlock from which they could benefit.

Eisenhower's leaders were confident that if the first wave failed, it would have smashed enough opposition to put him over on the second or third ballot. They counted on one or possibly both of Taft's temporary allies deserting him.

The Ohio senator, three-time loser in crucial test votes on convention side issues, pinned his hopes on wearing down Eisenhower strength in the "grass roots" states.

Both major candidates were outwardly confident of victory as the voting neared.

Eisenhower left his victory statements to his campaign managers. Said Gov. Sherman Adams of floor manager:

"It's like on the first ballot—as easy as that."

Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado mentioned as a possible vice-presidential running mate for Eisenhower, predicted the general would have 575 votes on the first ballot and win on the second.

Rep. Leonard Hall of New York raised the ante to 585 votes, and also predicted a second ballot victory.

Rep. Hugh D. Scott Jr. of Pennsylvania, an Eisenhower backer, claimed the general had 580 votes and could expect 19 more from an unannounced source. That would put him only five votes away from the 604 needed.

Taft says: "I Will Win"
Taft said simply: "I will win the nomination."

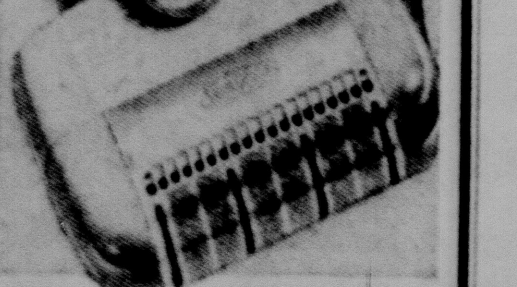

His Southern manager, Rep. B. Carroll Reece, told reporters: "I believe we have got the situation under control. Eisenhower can't win without the votes of California and Minnesota and I don't think he is going to get them."

G. Mason Owlett, Pennsylvania national committeeman who has been supporting Taft, predicted a convention deadlock.

"After that, anything can happen—I would not rule out any possibility."

Organized Nonsense Becomes Bedlam In Big Demonstrations

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (P)—The great lung-power derby, a strange rite of Americans, howled itself into exhaustion in the wee hours this morning, having named five men as choices for the highest office in the land.

For nearly eight hours, last night and today, five bands of Republicans made as much noise as they possibly could. They used most of the known instruments for disturbance.

Idaho's Gov. Len Jordan, a Taft rooster, said if California and Minnesota stay behind their favorite sons there will be an Eisenhower-Taft deadlock.

Jordan said it isn't beyond the bounds of possibility that Taft might support some other candidate besides Eisenhower if the Ohio finds he can't win himself.

Could Switch to MacArthur
This was an obvious reference to talk that Gen. Douglas MacArthur might jump into the race if Taft fades. MacArthur's name was the last one placed in nomination early this morning.

Taft's backers concentrated their closing salvos on the man they claim is masterminding the Eisenhower drive, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

"By now every delegate knows that it is Tom Dewey who is calling the shots in this convention," said David S. Ingalls, Taft's campaign manager. "He is not the man who pulls the strings. He is the candidate in everything but name."

Taft talked to MacArthur by telephone yesterday but said he had no plans to "throw my convention votes to anyone if I could, and I don't think I could."

Sen. William Knowland, who nominated Warren in last night's noisy, singing and marching session of the convention, told his California colleagues:

"If we are not swayed by rumor, we have the opportunity to nominate Earl Warren for president."

Stassen Has No Ties
Stassen said he has no understandings with any other candidate and will make none.

The bitterness that has torn the party slackened not one bit as the final hour came for closing ranks behind a party leader.

Taft headquarters distributed throwaways headlined "Sink Dewey!" and proclaiming: "End Dewey's control of our party—eight years of Deweyism and defeat."

The sheets described the New York governor, the party's 1944 and 1948 presidential nominee, as "the most cold-blooded, ruthless, selfish political boss in the United States today."

The scramble for delegate votes went on furiously.

Eisenhower's backers looked on with delight as Michigan's Summerfield grabbed a banner last night and joined in the howling, stomping mob which snaked its way around the convention floor for 45 minutes after a midnight Eisenhower nominating speech by Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland.

How They Stand
With Michigan's long uncommitted bloc of votes finally laid on the line, the Associated Press scoreboard showed these standings before the balloting began:

Eisenhower 554.
Taft 495.
Others 110.
Uncommitted 47.

Needed to nominate 604.
Eisenhower picked up four votes in the 38-vote New Jersey delegation as Taft lost one there. A new poll showed Taft with six votes in Arkansas. Eisenhower four and MacArthur one on the first ballot.

McKeldin predicted all of Maryland's 24 votes would go for Eisenhower. Previously the delegation had been 15 for Eisenhower, nine for Taft.

A Taft spokesman who asked not to be quoted directly told a reporter the senator's camp figured the first ballot lineup this way:

ing the peace—cowbells, whistles, sirens, a pipe organ, tin and wood-rattles, brass bands, and not least of all, the human voice.

History will never be able to record which group racked up the highest score in sore throats.

Nor could you say which of the five put on the best mob-scene in the aisles, waving a forest of placards, flipping flying saucers and colored streamers into the air, releasing balloons, capering, cavorting and having, generally, a high old time.

There were governors, senators, congressmen and worthy citizens, men of standing, in each of the demonstrations. They wore strange head dresses, Hawaiian leis, and straw hats with slogans plastered across the top. They hoisted pretty, shrieking girls on their shoulders, and banged each other, in the eye with placards.

Of the five spectacles—they are carefully arranged by vice presidents in charge of spontaneous demonstrations—there was something to be said for each.

Those who launched Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower lasted longest and made the most noise. No doubt about that.

But the blue-and-gold riot on behalf of Gov. Warren of California was somehow warmer and sweeter.

Moreover, when electricians threw a blazing, powder-blue spotlight on Mrs. Warren and the Warrens' three blonde, photogenic daughters—Virginia, Nina and Dorothy—everybody joined in the acclamation.

All three, in evening gowns, were neatly curled and coiffed, smiling with white teeth flashing, and very proud of papa.

Oddly enough, there was no demonstration at all when ex-Gov. Harold Stassen was named, although a pretty woman in a glowing yellow dress made the speech. She was Mrs. C. E. Howard—Marge to her friends.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's partisans, fewer in number but second to none in energy, were fifth and last on the scene. They paraded carrying giant photographs of MacArthur, and sang "Old Soldiers Never Die" and "Oklahoma," out of deference to Fred L. Coog, the Oklahoma man who made the nominating speech.

It was the usual organized nonsense, a series of outpourings of healthy animal spirits, giant spasms of energy.

But there were sharp-edged overtones, too.

A seconding speech for Taft, de-

Parley's Eighth Secret Session Has No Agreement

MUNSAN, Korea (P)—Negotiators held their eighth secret session today in a futile effort to agree on a Korean truce.

No information was released on what progress, if any, was made during the 26-minute meeting at Panmunjom. Another session was set for 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. EST, Friday).

United Nations and Communist delegates agreed on a news blackout eight days ago in an effort to resolve the remaining issue blocking an armistice—prisoner exchange.

A Peiping Communist radio broadcast said the Reds will continue to insist on forced return of all their Chinese and Korean prisoners in Allied stockades. The U. N. refuses to return POWs against their will.

Quoting a special correspondent from Kaesong, headquarters of the Communist negotiators the broadcast said:

"An armistice will result without delay if the American delegates let all Chinese POWs and all Korean POWs whose homes are in North Korea return home."

livered by Richard Neville of New York, almost duplicated the previous night's flare of ill-feeling, stirred by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen. Neville called for the party to repudiate "the leadership that has led us to defeat twice before."

That meant Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, an Eisenhower supporter. The Dewey-means-defeat theme is the counter to the Taft-can't-win-line that Eisenhower's campaigners have been using.

And more than one speaker was booed, despite Chairman Joseph Martin's plea that the GOP convention was no place for Republicans to be booing other Republicans.

Convention Sidelights--

MacArthur Fares Better Now Than In '48 as Candidate

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (P)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur may or may not turn out to be a serious contender for the Republican presidential nomination. But in one respect, at least, he's vastly stronger than he was four years ago.

In 1948, when the GOPs were meeting in Philadelphia, the general's name got just two minutes of applause when it was placed in nomination.

Early today it got a rip-snorting 35-minute demonstration, which put him right up in the big three.

Undoubtedly MacArthur would have had a longer, louder reception both times if he'd been placed in nomination earlier.

In '48 the general's name didn't go before the convention until almost 4 a. m. The spectators had gone home by then and the delegates still on the floor were so groggy they wouldn't have cheered a $1,000 bonus for themselves.

MacArthur got in nomination today at 2 a. m. (EST) and the ovation—complete with big pictures of MacArthur and Abraham Lincoln—was full-scale.

With 20 years of grievances to air, the Republicans made a long and often wordy document out of their 1952 platform.

But they summed up their views on one subject in a single sentence, the shortest plank of all: "Delivery of mail: 'We pledge a more efficient and frequent mail delivery service.'"

There comes a time in every convention when the delegates are so weary of oratory that they wouldn't pay attention to the most accomplished speaker alive.

That point had been reached when Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota, one of the party's better spellbinders, rose to deliver a few thousand carefully chosen words.

Most delegates started chatting and drifting through the aisles. Reproachfully, Chairman Joe Martin rapped for order.

Looking down at the congestion and confusion on the floor, Judd told Martin, a representative from Massachusetts:

"Oh, let 'em alone, Joe, it makes

Then there were the two little boys whose eyes were bigger than their campaign buttons.

Each had Taft and Eisenhower buttons pinned on them. Said one to the other, as they entered Eisenhower headquarters:

"Cover up your Taft button and you'll get a free coke."

"My life saved by Kaiser's safety front seat"

Says Donald E. Holmes, of Coldwater, Mich.

Here's what happened:
Swerving desperately to avoid another car, Mr. Holmes crashed his '52 Kaiser head-on into a pole on U.S. Highway 112, Allen, Michigan, last May 27.

Yet he walked away from the wreck—unharmd! Why? Because the Kaiser's instrument panel was padded...no protruding knobs to injure him...and the windshield pushed outward in one piece! "In any other car I might have been killed!" Mr. Holmes writes.

This extra safety and extra value explain why thousands have switched to Kaiser. The car with the world's safest front seat! With America's lowest center of gravity! Largest glass area in any sedan! Easiest steering! Handsomest "hardtop" styling at regular sedan prices! Mobilgas economy winner—24.6 miles a gallon! Drive a Kaiser, and you'll agree...it's your safest buy today!
